"We are appalled at the fact that $300,000,000 were lost in the calamity at San Francisco, but are we appalled at the fact that annually $1,200,000,000 are spent for whiskey which in no way helps humanity.

"We are grieved at the loss of 800 souls there, but are we grieved at the fact that each year 10,000 souls fill drunkards' graves. Men, how can you in the face of this, vote for whiskey on May 5?"—Rev. J. T. Lewis in his sermon last Sunday night.

NEW SAN FRANCISCO TO ARISE.

San Francisco, April 23.—A sharp earthquake shock was felt here at 10:39 o'clock. It lasted about three seconds and was from east to west. No damage has been reported.

San Francisco, April 23.—The new San Francisco, which will rise from the ashes of the old, was in its first stages of rebuilding today. After five days of confusion and almost superhuman effort on the part of citizens of California's metropolis, the great task of sheltering, feeding and otherwise caring for the homeless thousands, complete order has been re-established and attention turned to the future.

Many scientists believe that there was no connection between the California earthquake and the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius.

There was no famine; many suffered from hunger but were soon relieved by government rations.

Frisco took fire just after the earthquake on Wednesday morning last which came at 5:13 a. m. The fire burned until Saturday when it was thought the flames had been spent, soon after they took fire anew and are still raging.

Barnum & Bailey's circus, which is now playing in Brooklyn sent its big wagons over New York and gathered supplies and food for Frisco.

The barrel city has taken on courage and will rebuild better and stronger, so says a proclamation from the Mayor.

Most of the bank vaults were intact and no damage was done to the money. Many bankers removed their cash while the fire was raging.

Many Breckenridge country people reside in the State of California. Charles P. Sawyer is the only one known to reside in Frisco.

CLOVERPORT BOY AT FRISCO SAFE.

Chas. P. Sawyer, son of Mrs. F. H. Sawyer of this city, who has resided in San Francisco six years, sends the following telegram home. Mr. Sawyer kept a fine down-town restaurant in Frisco with his partner, Mr. Haas. The family suffered much anxiety about Mr. Sawyer not having heard from him until Monday. The telegram was given in at Oaktown, April 20 but did not reach here until April 22.

Oakland, Cal., April 20.—Mrs. F. H. Sawyer, Cloverport, Ky.—safe—saved trunk—restaurant gone—insured—city burned—great loss.

C. P. Sawyer.

Miss Virginia Hovious, of Half Moon Bay, Cal., thirty miles from Frisco, who is related to the Raffertys and the Millers of this city, and who visited here several years ago, has not been heard from. Miss Hovious was very popular here.

DAN ROBERTS IS DEAD. CHOICE SOULS IN HARDINSBURG.

Ekron, Ky., April 23.—Mr. Daniel S. Roberts departed this life April 17. He was a victim of paralysis, having had several attacks during the last few years of his life. He was born in Meade county in the year of 1846 and was married to Miss Marian Hardin, of Breckenridge county, who passed away in the year of 1904. Four daughters, Mrs. Ophelia Willett, of Elizabethtown, Mrs. Dr. J. P. Shacklette, of Garrettsville, Mrs. Jennie McGhee, of Long Branch, and Mrs. Bettie Richardson, of this place, survive him.

Mr. Roberts was a highly respected and much beloved citizen. He had been a faithful christian worker in the Baptist church for fifty years, holding his membership with Buck Grove church. His church and christian duties did not stop within the limits of his own church but was ever ready to help others. In building our church at Ekron he was one of the first men to donate fifty dollars. Early in his christian career he was appointed a member of the home mission board in which body he was a useful and active member.

Mr. Roberts funeral was preached by Rev. Bonnie again assisted by Rev. Kimble Willett and Shacklette. His remains were laid to rest in Buck Grove cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

Dear Central: I have just closed a good meeting with G. S. King at Hardinsburg. The weather was the worst I ever saw to hold a meeting in, but despite the rain the people came, and we had, not a sweeping revival but a good meeting, which will bless the entire town and add strength to every department of the church. Not more than thirty professed during the meeting, and not so many as that joined the church. I found some choice souls at Hardinsburg. I shall never forget them in their loyalty to me and the meeting. King is one of the best most solid men I've assisted. He's firm, but kind and aggressive. He's a man who loves the truth and will stand by a man when its being preached. He said I'd help him again, and I hope it's so. A letter from Sister Tola Daniels says the influence of the meeting is being felt in every department of the church work. I am at this writing in the Kentucky Conference with W. L. Selby in what promises to be a great meeting. This makes four or five meetings with him in nine years. I am yours in the work to stay.

Boys, Stay With The Old Farm.

Note--This article was written especially for the News. Mr. Ditto having been reared on a farm and left it for the city, naturally is able to handle the subject.--Editor.

There is no higher calling on earth than that of a honest, intelligent farmer. If the boys on the farm could be made to realize the fact that if they would apply themselves to the farm each day in the year as the city business man applies himself to his business, they would reap wonderful results. If he would do this he would have an interest in the planting of his crops, the breeding of his stock would be better. MORE MONEY WOULD BE MADE AND FARM LIFE WOULD BE A PLEASURE TO THE YOUNG, AMBITIOUS MAN.

In farm life there is monotony. The boy is of a restless nature. His youthful ambition creates in him a desire to move on. To go some place where he can see results. The farm boy hears of the big salaries that the city boy receives each month in cold, hard cash and this discourages the farm boy. Seemingly he is making so little that he concludes that the farm is a poor place for him to try to get on in the world.

The farm boy, discouraged with the slow progress he is making on the farm, turns to the city. He goes there blind to the expenditures NECESSARY TO SUSTAIN HIMSELF THERE. He has the large salaries he was told of down on the farm in mind. The farm boy is looking for the gold he has long coveted. HE GETS THE GOLD BUT AT THE END OF THE YEAR NOT THREE OUT OF TEN OF THOSE BOYS WHO GO TO THE CITY HAVE A CENT TO BALANCE THE PROFIT SIDE OF THE LEDGER EITHER IN DOLLARS OR HAPPINESS OR BETTER LIFE.

The city possesses more alluring fascinations for the young man than the farm but in after years when his hair begins to turn gray the once young man looks back and says: "WHAT HAVE I GAINED?" The young man has probably seen more of life--he has probably seen more grand opera, more fine spectacles, more fine houses, more of the shade of life, and to the looker on, has seemingly enjoyed life more. But bless your soul when you sum up the constant daily hours he has spent in the city and vexation of dealing every day with man and many kinds of men at that, THE YOUNG MAN COMES TO THE CONCLUSION THAT THE CITY LIFE IS NOT ONE OF THE SWEET PLEASURES OF THE WORLD. He finds city life very different from the good old days when he was doing business with old "Betsy" and following the plow.

Only a few days ago I was talking with one of my neighbor boys who had left the farm and taken up his lot with the thronging multitudes in one of our large cities. This man said to me: "I AM MAKING LOT OF MONEY BUT THE WORRY I HAVE WITH BUSINESS AND THE EXPENSE OF LIVING IS ENOUGH TO DRIVE ME CRAZY."

It is just so. There is much sentiment in a happy boy life on the farm that a CITY BOY DOES NOT POSSESS. The farm boy has all of nature's wealth which she gives forth bountifully to make him happy. The rippling brooks, the grassy plains, the fresh trimmings of mother earth in which to sow a few seed and from which to reap a bountiful harvest. The blate of the little innocent lambs, the belting of the cow, the quacking of the duck and the sweet music of the flitting birds with the chiming of mother's sweet voice at the churn or whistle she is mending a few holes in the socks or pantaloons. Get away from God's natural way of life and you get into a made-up life in which there is no real, genuine, good, old happy thoughts and merry laughter.

The city boy knows, but little beyond man's hand. GIVE ME THE COUNTRY BOY FOR ANYTHING. I can soon if necessary, make a city boy out of him but you can never make a real, first-class country boy out of a city lad. The city boy and the hot harvest fields never seem to get into harmony with each other. There are a lot of country boys who go to the cities and pile up money. BUT MONEY DOES NOT GIVE PEACE OF MIND AND HAPPINESS IN EVERY CASE.

LET THE COUNTRY BOY GIVE AS MUCH TIME AND APPLICATION TO THE FARM AS THE BUSINESS MAN DOES TO THE BUSINESS OVER WHICH HE HAS CONTROL AND THEN SEE WHICH OF THE TWO WILL HAVE THE MORE HAPPINESS AND REAL SOLID COMFORTS OF LIFE AT FIFTY YEARS OF AGE.

SPELLING REFORM.

Mr. Carnegie is taking some practical steps to have our English spelling reduced to a phonetic basis. It is an ample field of labor for a millionaire. That it will cost money to get the English-speaking world away from the use of superfluous letters can go without the saying. If we pass up any of them it will cost for the spelling reform. Mr. Carnegie, who has the price, and who has also an opinion that it is a disgrace to the rich, may even reduce him to the dimension of a needle's eye in his great work of spelling reform.--St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, 2006 Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney troubles for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 61 years old."--A. ST. LOUIS LIVE STOCK MARKET

Reported By Evans-Salder-Buet Co Live Stock Commission Agent.

Special to the News--National Stock, Yards, Ill., Apr. 18th.--The cattle trade, this week has developed into a dull lifeless condition that is hard to describe and the indifference displayed by the buyers can only be realized by those having cattle on sale. The eastern demand is practically eliminated the local buyers, but packers and butchers wanted a very limited number at greatly reduced values. Most of the beef steers changed hands slowly at prices fully 25 cents lower than a week ago. Receipts were pretty heavy at other markets and while we had only a moderate supply it took the whole day to dispose of them. The clearance is poor each day with a good many bids flatly refused.

The same condition prevails in the butcher cattle trade as on beef steers and prices on cow and heifer stuff is at the low point for several weeks past. Some extra good handy weight heifers sold for $4.65 with the bulk of the good 500 to 600 lb. steers and heifers at round $4.30. Fair to good canners and cutters $2.15 to $2.30.

The trade in the stocker and feeder division is so light that it is useless to make quotations. The hog market has made its usual advance. Receipts have been light and prices are now at the high point for three years past an extreme top of $6.80 having been reached, with the bulk of the good hogs selling from $6.60 to $6.70. Most of the weights below 150 lb. sold from $5.00 to $5.00 with best pigs at $5.50. The demand is good at these prices and hogs should continue to sell satisfactorily for some time to come.

The sheep market continues good and fully three times the number received could be handled to advantage. Good native sheep are selling around $5.75 and spring lambs $7.50 to $8.50.

A flurry in arresting lynchings, it not followed by their proper trial and punishment, would place law order at the mercy of mobs.

It is useless to pass laws if lynchings are to be supreme, and foolish to build jails if mobs with mitering rams may smash them open at will.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier--Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Boston and One in Nashville, Tenn.

All women work; some in their homes, some in church, and some in the whirl of society. And in stores, mills and shops tens of thousands are on the never-ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drags them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, tumors, ulceration, falling and displacements, or perhaps irregularity or suppression, causing backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen the female organism and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to rise refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag about or stand up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

Miss F. Orser, of 14 Warren Street, Boston, tells women how to avoid such suffering; she writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham--I suffered miserably for several years with female irregularities. My back ached; I had bearing-down pains, and frequent headaches.

down pains are a symptom of the most serious trouble which can attack a woman, viz: falling of the womb. The cure is

A DASHING AUTOMOBILE STORY

A Motor-Car Divorce

By LOUISE CLOSSER HALE

A BREEZY and deliciously humorous motor-car romance--the fact that the hero and heroine are man and wife makes it no less a romance.

Mrs. Ward, a believer in the theory of the ten-year marriage contracts advanced by George Meredith, goes with her indulgent husband on an automobile tour through France and Italy for the purpose of securing a divorce on the grounds of "incompatibility of temper," which, in reality, do not exist. It takes another woman, several accidents and the automobile to bring Mrs. Ward to her proper senses.

MARIAN MARNE'S SPRING FASHIONS.

The Latest Dictum in Styles-- Suesine Silk a Successful Innovation--The Secret of Harmonious Dressing.

The fashions of the moment possess so many variations diverse and subtle which lend themselves freely to the characteristic American individualities. That it is almost impossible for any one but the well initiated to realize what makes up the harmonious whole--the something that makes one woman look much better dressed than another and gives the fashions of the present day their final appearance.

To begin with the color question is carefully studied out. Either everything is in one tone or there is some contrast introduced so cleverly as not to make any discordant note, but rather to emphasize and bring out any good point that may exist. Tones may be elaborate, but they too harmonize with the gown and either make or mar it.

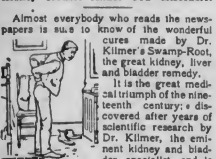

The skirts of street frocks are unquestionably less voluminous than they threatened to be in some instances. They are, in a vast majority of the best models, smooth fitting over hips, and, though they flare considerably below the hips, there is nothing extreme in the general outline.

The blouse retains so firm a foothold that it would take a general revolution in fashion to oust it, and the revolution is highly improbable.

Silk remains the most popular fabric for gowns for every occasion, and Suesine is a conspicuous silk in all the shops as well as in the costume emerging daily from our most fashionable modistes for ladies' summer wear. For the closely draped bodices in vogue now it is an ideal material because of its characteristic suppleness. Suesine silk of an exquisite shade of lilac was the fabric selected for the chic, softly flowing model of my illustration, and expresses a type of buoyant carelessness to the woman of taste. Suesine silk is one of the most successful innovations, in that it is inexpensive, being composed of a skillful combination of silk and cotton, which lends it to all the effectiveness of the finest silk, while

Mr. Wm. Thos. Langran, provincial Constable at Chapeau, Ontario, says: "I caught severe cold while hunting a burglar in the forest swamp last fall. Hearing of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I tried it, and after using two small bottles, I was completely cured. This remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than by any other treatment and is a favorite where ever its superior for excellence has become known. For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport.

A Japanese statesman, speaking of the destiny of the Korean, naively remarks: "David Harum said that fleas were given to a dog to keep it from running in the fact that he was a dog. Why not leave the Korean with his enlightenment and a worry or two?"--N. Y. Sun.

Living indoors creates a sort of stuffy, want-of-ozone condition in the blood and system generally. Clean up and get ready for spring. Take a few Early Kidney. These famous little pills cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels and give the blood a chance to purify itself. They relieve headache, salivary complexion, etc. Sold by all druggists.

Forfeiture of Railroad Land Title.

Washington April 11.--The Senate committee on public lands to-day authorized a favorable report on the House bill providing for the forfeiture of title to rights of way across public lands acquired by railroads under that of 1875 when the railroads projected were not built within the five year limit fixed by law. Many thousands of miles of railroads were projected and not built and the plans on file in the general land office place clouds on the lands involved.

Keep your bowels regular by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. This is nothing better. For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport.

The records of official places distributed shows that the rough riders were also easy sitters in the piping times of peace.

Much of the criticism of the Senate is unjust, but it might be remarked, if not unparliamentary, that the Senate is fond of debate.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the" severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of a gripe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Egerton of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Sold by Short & Haynes.

Devil's Island Torture

The British post office has a large surplus annually, but its telegraph department is conducted at a yearly loss of $6,000,000, though the lines when taken over by the government were making a net profit of $1,700,000. The results of public ownership are not all of a kind.

April and Woman.

(From the Baltimore American.)

April weeps.
April smiles:
Woman threatens.
Then giggles.
Rain or shine,
Who can find?
Who can tell
A woman's mind?
April's tears
Bring blooms of May:
Woman's weeping
Gets her way.
April's mild and April's chill:
Warm and cold is Woman's will.
April's fall of Quick surprise:
So's the light
In woman's eyes.
April's young, so
Fair in truth:
Woman's sweetest
For her youth.
Young man's fancy
It is said,
Turns to loving Month and maid.

A Thousand Dollar's Worth of Good.

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain," says A. H. Thurman, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like substance and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1000 worth of good." Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney or bladder disease. A. R. Fisher.

Speaker Cannon would lose much of his universal popularity if he should, in the end, be held to personal responsibility for the failure of Oklahoma's statehood. The speaker is doubtless well advised of this fact, as he save the end before he started the beginning of the game. It has been said of him in the Danville district that his only defect for Congress was a divine providence of the exposition needed to clinch the case.

The London Saturday Review says the British empire has conquered most of the baronages of the earth, but failed to form a real political union with communities of its own stock. Taking this view for a text, the Review asks if there is such a thing as the British empire. The answer is affirmative, but not on the plan of a Roman emperor nor that of King George III.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce the HON.
BEN JOHNSON, of Nelson county, as a candidate for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The best thing American Society of Equity can do is to keep out of politics.

The ploughs are moving at a lively rate all along the line from Henderson to Louisville.

Gen. J. Franklin Bell, of Kentucky has been appointed chief of staff of the United States army.

The county judge of Calloway county was offered and increase in salary by the Fiscal court but refused it.
How strange! No gift in this man.

Capt. Sawyer has not yet named and christened his new boat but there is one thing he must not fail to do and that is to put on her stern "Built in Cloverport."

Harrodsburg local opinion people are trying to get an election to vote whiskey out of their town. They hope to have the election June 15. The News wishes them success.

The Elizabethtown News devotes a column and a half of its editorial space to what seems to be a half hearted eulogy of Gov. Beckham because he has announced himself for the Senate.

David Moreland, of Ohio county, has been elected State President of the American Society of Equity. Mr.
Moreland has always been a farmer,
and said to have been a successful one.

Judge James E. Cantrell of the Appelate Bench of Kentucky, draws $3, 000 a year salary regardless of the fact that he has never been able to render the State any service on account of bad health.

Lambe sold recently in Louisville at 9 cents and bags at $6.65. W. R.
Moorman, Jr., of Glendene, sold a carload of bags which netted him $1,000.
Here is a young man who is making his mark in farming.

Musketo is the way Mr. Carnegie spells it. But why trouble our selves about the peck-y note (Carnegie-way).
This town is so clean and well kept that Mr. Musketo will never find anything in it to his taste.

Col. Noel Gaines, Kentucky's inspector general, will begin on June 1,
the publication of a strictly Kentucky magazine called "The Crander." The magazine proposes to wage war on vice in all of its forms.

The tax payers don't want to give up their good money to teach a man to build roads when they can get one with experience and one who knows how at the same price. The tax payers ought to have some say when it comes to spending their money.

Our friend, William Adkinson tells us he sold stock amounting to $450 by means of the insertion of an eighteen cent Want Ad in the News. No doubt about it a News Want Ad is a power.
If you have any thing to sell say so in our Want Column at one cent a word and get a better customer and more customers for your stuff.

Under the circumstances and considering the very large petition that went up from this district asking that Charles Bohler be appointed Road supervisor, Squire John Jennings could do no more than this than to decline to accept the place. This act would give him a prestige with the people worth more to him than the office or the influence of the "gang" either. The people have no fault to find with Squire Jennings as a man, they all like him and respect him, but they don't think he has the experience and the qualities that go to make a good road man.

Percy Board is one of the most enthusiastic young farmers we have met in a long time. His soul, body and mind are wrapped up in his work. It is no fact of his either. He is in the business because he loves it and likes to farm. Board is working for results.
Another quality he has which is quite essential and that is, he is a worker himself. knows how to farm and have a farm carried on. He is not afraid to put out his money either to get land and implements to work on and work with. He tells me that he has just brought the Vic Robertson tract lying on the Pike and adjoining his home place and the Squires place. This gives him about 400 acres of the best land in the county, well watered, well located making an ideal farm as well as an ideal home. Watch Percy for results in farming.

Talking about "pure food" and "old time cooking" you get both down at Henry Herndon's Hotel Herndon.
Following are a few, items from his bill of fare for dinner. Cooked in the old home style, fresh and crisp, served in order and promptly. Jowl and marzip greens with poached eggs.
Roast chicken, fresh dressing. Cold meat corn muffins, creamy butter milk.
Breast of veal with brown gravy.
Roast beef that melts in your mouth.
Baked sweet potatoes and all the early vegetables. Bird nest dumpling, butter sauce, the kind that mamma used to make. Custard pie. Almond ice-cream, cheese, crackers and mixed nuts. A dinner fit for the gods and served as no other man can serve it.
Henry said it was just a common every day dinner that he puts up to more than fifty guests every day in the week. He is a great hotel man and is running about the best one in Western Kentucky.

Breckinridge county is to have a Home-Coming Day. The date has not been set yet but will be arranged for at the proper time Judge Moorman has appointed the several committees.
The News trusts that each man on these committees will consider his duties as of the greatest importance and discharge them with the proper diligence. We, the people of Breckenridge should make this day a red letter day in the history of the county. Our friends and citizens also left us years ago will come back home to us. Let us show them that we have made good during their absence. Let us show these good brethren that we love them because they were born in Breckenridge, because they were reared on the same hills and in the same valleys in which we now abide and which we love.
There may be more beautiful fields in the Bluegrass, there may be finer horses there, there may be more wealth, not thank God, there are no better people in the Bluegrass of Kentucky or in the boundaries of any state than there are here in dear old Breckenridge. Let us all, every body, work unitedly to make Home-Coming Day
a red letter day.

Cloverport is entirely without protection from fire. The town has not even a brick brigade nor a hand pump to help out in case of fire should one break out. Is it not strange when we think of our disaster of 1901, that we have not taken steps to protect ourselves in case the same calamity should befall us again? We have no positive assurance that such will not be the case. We have risen from that great heap of ashes perchance only to fall.
There are many individuals among us whose financial loss alone would have installed a some sort of protection against fire. It seems to the News that this is a very important and a very urgent matter that should come before the City Council at its next meeting.
The Council is hardly to blame for the present conditions; the blame should be placed on every man, every citizen in Cloverport. All of us have been stupid in this important matter. But let us take heed, get to work and have protection from fire. If the Council will take action on this matter and advise some means of raising the money for the purpose, let every citizen in town stand by the Council and bear that part of the expense which will fall to him without a murmur. It will take money to install fire protection and if we are reformed rightly the City Treasurer is just about making both ends meet. But we must raise the money somehow.

We must have protection from fire.
A flame may burst out at any moment and blot Cloverport from the map. Let us get to work and have protection.

Notwithstanding that he will have no opposition for the Democratic nomination for Congress Hon. Ben Johnson is making a thorough canvass of the district. He spent last week in the western end of the district but did not have time to complete the "rounds" therefore he is in the same section again this week. He never does anything by halves.

It must be very pleasing to him to note that every Democratic newspaper in the Fourth district has spoken with much favor of his candidacy for the nomination for Congress. Not in the history of Fourth district politics has the candidacy of such a man met with such general favor. This is due to the fact that the people of the district recognize in Mr. Johnson a man who will make an able Congressman and one who will be recognized by the people of the whole State—maybe the whole country—as one of the ablest in Congress.

Three years ago when the editor of The Sun owned the Breckenridge Democrat he mentioned Mr. Johnson's name in connection with the chairmanship of the Central Committee.
After that we received numerous requests from Democrats in Breckenridge county asking that Mr. Johnson be urged to again enter politics each giving practically the same reason why this should be done, namely, that he would make a safe conservative representative that could at all times be trusted to do that which would be best for the party regardless of self interests or the interests of friends. This is the sort of an opinion Democrats have and of Mr.
Johnson for a long time and when they saw that an opportunity would come for them to honor him they were glad and expressed themselves.

The newspapers over the district in speaking with so much favor of Mr.
Johnson's candidacy have merely echoed the sentiment of nearly every Democrat in the district.—Springfield
Sun.

To The Public!

I intend to give one of the greatest picnic-barbecues ever given in Breckenridge county at Tar Springs on the Fourth of July next. This picnic will be far better than all of the others I have given; there will be more to attract you to this one than there was at all of the others. I have selected the most beautiful spot in the county on which to have the grand jubilee. Mr.
Hilday, the proprietor of the Springs, is spending a great deal of money on the place and by the Fourth of July it will be so transformed into a place of such magnificent beauty that strangers will hardly know the famous old place. Mr. Hilday knows what he is doing and is making great progress in his work.

The people of Hardinsburg and vicinity who have so largely attended my picnics heretofore are especially invited to this one, the greatest of all. You will be looked after in the best of fashion and I will see to it that you have a good time.

I will announce further particulars of this event in this paper next week.

Respectfully,
WILLIAM NOBLE PATE.

PART TWO.

EDUCATION FOR INDIANS.

"MOTHER KATHERINE" DREXEL SPENDS MILLIONS IN THIS WORK.

Has Founded Many Schools, Employing Indians to Build Them. Only Full-blooded Indian Catholic Priest in the World.

Many thousands of Indian children in Oklahoma and Indian Territory have been educated by means of the "Drexel millions," a large portion of which has for years been devoted to the cause of Indian education by Mother Katherine, formerly Miss Kate Drexel, of Philadelphia, sister of John H. Drexel, banker and sugar magnate, and closely related to the others of the same name who have made it famous in the world of finance.

She keeps in close touch with her work, and visits the Oklahoma schools in which she is interested at least once a year. She is usually accompanied by her sister, who is also deeply interested in the work, and who heartily approves it, in common with the other members of the family. All of the millions she has expended for Indian education have been employed under direction of the Interior Department, as her long study of the Indian problem is recognized to have made her one of the best authorities on the subject in the country.

Planned the Buildings Personally. The St. Louis and St. John schools at Pawhuska, both founded by Mother Katherine a number of years ago, are good examples of the work she is doing for the education of the Indians. Both have handsome and commodious buildings, planned personally by Mother Katherine, and have given hundreds of Ojibwa children, their first knowledge of the white man's learning. Many of the teachers are themselves Indians, graduates of these or similar schools, who have entered with enthusiasm into the education of their fellow tribesmen. The Ojibwa schools receive some assistance from the government, and their scope is greatly widened by the orders now in effect from the agents of school age must be in school in order to draw their share of the annuity payments.

Used Indian Labor. While Mother Katherine's benefactions have always been liberal, it is not to be let the Indians do the work whenever possible, in the construction of buildings and work of a similar character. When the Sacred Heart school burned five years ago, and was rebuilt at Potawatomi and Kickapoo Indians made the brick for the new structure, and did much of the work towards its construction, working, of course, under the direction of a white contractor. Much of the maintenance of this school, which is claimed to be the oldest west of the Mississippi river, is borne by Mother Katherine, and is by her visits to the school.

She discovered Albert Nezhemmet, the full-blooded Potawatomi boy educated by her, and who is now the only full-blooded Indian Catholic priest in the world. After his graduation at Sacred Heart, she paid his expenses through Washington, finally finishing his education at Rome, from whence he returned only two years ago, to take up his work among his own people.

Father Schumacher, of Independence, Mo., also went personally to follow the trails through what is now Oklahoma as far west as Fort Sill.

The beginning of the work among the Potawatomi was also made as far back as 1871, when Father Roland, a French missionary, offered his services to the bishop of Little Rock, who then had jurisdiction over this territory, and struck out into the Indian country. He settled at Acker, but in 1874 moved to Sacred Heart, founding the famous abbey of the Benedictines there, which is the only monastery in the United States governed directly from France. Its first abbot was Father Felix Pedroni, a French descendant of the famous French admiral. Upon his death two years ago he was succeeded by Father Marjany, a native of Savannah, Ga., and the first nun of American birth to join the brotherhood at Sacred Heart.

LARGEST BATTLESHIP.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF GIGANTIC "CONSTITUTION."

More Destructive and Terrible than the new Floating Giant, the English "Dreadnaught"—Old "Constitution" to be Saved.

One hundred thousand dollars for the preservation of the old France Constitution, and $10,000,000 for the construction of a huge new battleship of the same name are two provisions to be included in the naval appropriation bill.

The new Constitution is to be the most powerful ship of war afloat. She will excel the British Dreadnaught recently launched by King Edward by as much as the Dreadnaught will excel anything afloat when she is completed. Her armament may be said to be directly the result of Togo's victory in the sea of Japan. It will be the British naval attack on board Togo's flagship, who hurried home, and this brought about the construction of the Dreadnaught. Now we are to follow and eclipse the British naval power.

The Navy Department has secured full information concerning the plans of the Dreadnaught, and the armament, and is now ready to build it. It is known exactly what must be done to beat her.

In order that the department may not be impeded in any way in determining upon the plans of the new Constitution the forthcoming bill will provide that the Secretary of the Navy may use the contingent fund to secure information from shipbuilders, the world over, if he so desires, before finally accepting the design of the ten-million-dollar pacifier.

Provisions for Ship. This provision for the new American sea fighter is in line with the desire of the President and the earnest recommendation of Admiral Dewey, who recently appeared before the Naval Committee of the House and gave a spirited talk in support of his views as to the necessity of constructing larger and more powerful battleships for the American Navy.

At the time the naval estimates were made up last fall, Secretary Boone made up for her such success, but she has since come around to the aid of the President, and is now heartily in favor of the committee proposition.

The next experts in Washington have long been convinced that the 10,000-ton battle ship Michigan and South Carolina, authorized by the Congress, represent the limit of possibility on a displacement not decidedly greater. necessary to develop high speed, or to wider steaming radius. They point out that in the Dreadnaught it was attempted to preserve two of these factors, gun power and speed, but that to do so it was necessary to sacrifice the armor protection, which they believe such a battle-ship should have.

No Limit to Cost. No sacrifice in armament, speed, or steaming radius will have to be made in designing the new Constitution. The only limitation placed upon the Secretary of the Navy by the Naval Affairs Committee is that her hull and machinery shall not cost more than $10,000,000. The provision for the battleships Michigan and South Carolina, now the largest ships building for the navy, was $10,000,000 each, and there is no doubt in the minds of the members of the committee that if the Secretary decides to go to $10,000,000 beyond, the extra $2,000,000 now provided will easily accomplish it.

It is estimated that the armor and machinery of the ship will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $5,500,000 in addition to the hull and machinery, and that other fittings will bring the total for the new Constitution up approximately to $10,000,000. The Dreadnaught is planned to carry ten 12-inch rifles. The Michigan and South Carolina are to carry eight 12-inch guns. The Dreadnaught will be able to concentrate six guns for low or stern fire, with eight on either broadside, while the American ships can use four guns dead ahead and stern, and all eight about or astern on a quartering fire, with all six on either broadside, so that in point of fire they are nearly as efficient as the Dreadnaught, which excels materially only in the standpoint of speed. To counterbalance this the American ships have the decided advantage in armor protection.

The Advantage of Guns. The Constitution will have as high speed as the Dreadnaught, and more complete armor protection. She will be more able to inflict blows and better able to withstand them. She will carry twelve 12-inch rifles, as opposed to eight on the Dreadnaught, and she can concentrate six guns for low or stern fire, with eight on either broadside, while the American ships can use four guns dead ahead and stern, and all eight about or astern on a quartering fire, with all six on either broadside, so that in point of fire they are nearly as efficient as the Dreadnaught, which excels materially only in the standpoint of speed. To counterbalance this the American ships have the decided advantage in armor protection.

Chewing Gum vs. Missions. The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Washington, held recently, witnessed the fact that three and a half million dollars a year more is spent for chewing gum than for foreign missions. In other words $15,000,000 is spent for gum and only $7,500,000 for missions.

Unusually complete data show that $15,000,000 is spent for gum, $7,500,000 for tobacco, and $7,500,000 for missions. The figures are taken from a report of the American Missionary Society, and are considerably in the lead.

The Kerosene Lamp. The ordinary kerosene lamp is the best illustration of the highest type of modern illumination. The hot gas, passing up through the narrow throat of the chimney draws the colder air through the hot wire gauze at the bottom and brings it near a temperature which will feed combustion and prevent smothering by chilling the vapors. The limits of the construction of such lamps are easily seen. When the wick is raised a little the combustion is greater than the capacity of the furnace, and smoke results. When the chimney is raised from the bottom too much cold air enters, the fire is chilled, and again we have smoke.

OLD MAINE NOW YOUNG.

PAPER MAKING HAS DONE MUCH TO DEVELOP OLD NEW ENGLAND STATE.

Intelligent Forestry Will Perpetuate The Maine Woods and Furnish Fuel For Paper-Making to Future Generations.

When one stops to think of the tremendous and almost magic growth of the distant West it seems strange that such an old state as Maine is still largely unknown and unsettled.

Almost immediately after the Revolutionary War the settlement of Maine began by inhabitants of other parts of New England and its growth has been steady and sure. With the exception of the years of, and immediately following the Civil War, the population, however, has been almost entirely confined to the lower half of the state and only very recently have the immense possibilities, and resources of the northern half been realized.

It is estimated that at least 200,000 natives of Maine are scattered throughout the other parts of the country at the present time. Had this vast army remained to develop their native state it is impossible to realize the chance that it has lands and placed the cutting of all timber under the direction of the Government Forestry Bureau. A very few years ago was sent into the Maine woods and a close study made of the trees growing on each acre of this company's holdings. A plan was agreed upon which assures a perpetual supply of timber. No tree under nine inches in diameter is to be cut. At the end of sixteen years the spruce growth will have renewed itself again and under this plan the entire three hundred thousand acres may be cut over every sixteen years.

At Rumford Falls on the Androscoggin in western Maine about 54,000 horse power is now utilized, and a recent state report says that 48,000 additional horse power is available from this stream alone.

Beyond doubt the railroads of Maine are responsible for the opening and development of the upper half of this state, as in two years are only thirty or forty miles of railway were built north of the centre and manufacturing or farming was almost unknown above this point.

Capitalists at last realized what a vast amount of valuable territory was being ignored, and built branch lines into the "wilderness," until now there are nearly 500 miles of tracks connecting thriving cities and villages, which have sprung up in the wake of the steel bands.

The advent of the railroad in

Thousands of Lakes and Rivers. In this state alone there are over five thousand rivers and streams with more than fifteen hundred lakes as reservoirs, to furnish power for innumerable manufacturing plants.

Besides natural water power, Maine is rich in timber, which in this age is a most valuable asset.

The timber lands of northern Maine can, with judicious management, be made to yield for generations after generation and supply a vast and largest paper mill in the world, is located at Millinocket on a small branch of the Penobscot River. Where a drop of one hundred and fifty feet furnishes 25,000-horsepower. From this mill is turned out each day between 150 and 180 tons of newspaper, made from wood pulp.

It is commonly supposed that paper making from wood-pulp is one of the greatest enemies to our forests, but exactly the opposite is the case where the forests are handled intelligently.

The modern policies adopted by many paper mills in regard to the protection of the forests are doing much for the cause of forestry.

One Maine company has secured the ownership of 300,000 acres of forest lands and placed the cutting of all timber under the direction of the Government Forestry Bureau. At the end of sixteen years the spruce growth will have renewed itself again and under this plan the entire three hundred thousand acres may be cut over every sixteen years.

At Rumford Falls on the Androscoggin in western Maine about 54,000 horse power is now utilized, and a recent state report says that 48,000 additional horse power is available from this stream alone.

Beyond doubt the railroads of Maine are responsible for the opening and development of the upper half of this state, as in two years are only thirty or forty miles of railway were built north of the centre and manufacturing or farming was almost unknown above this point.

Washington Letter.

Washington, April 12.—A new executive mission for the President of the United States, to be located nearly a mile further from the center of the city than at present, which shall in every way be splendidly fitted up and finished, is the plan over which Washington is considerably stirred up at present. It is reported at the Capitol that the President has been approached on the subject, and that he has indicated his enthusiasm in no uncertain tones. To meet the objections of patriotic Americans to the abandonment of the present White House, those who are furthering the plan propose that it shall not be actually abandoned, but shall be used either as the residence of the Vice President or for officers of the President. But even these suggestions can not quell the opposition to the plan, of those who remember that the White House has been the residence of all the Presidents from George Washington to Roosevelt, in an unbroken line, except for the temporary lapse occasioned by its partial burning when the British captured the city in 1814, and who therefore rightly look upon it as the center and source of patriotic association. From those, also, who took with pride upon the plain yet impressive White House as the very emblem of democratic simplicity, the proposal to provide an executive castle will bring lasting opposition. Of course, it is true that the growth of executive business demands increased accommodations, but it seems to be the general opinion here that the White House grounds afford ample room to provide for additions sufficient to accommodate the growth of many years.

There is reason to believe that a vote will be had on the Hapham bill in the near future. The able speech of Senator Bailey this week has cleared the political atmosphere. While the Texan did not deal directly with the Hapham measure, but devoted himself to a discussion of the right of Congress to prohibit the lower courts from setting aside temporarily the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission pending appeal, his argument served to disclose the attitude of the Senate majority. This disclosure has resulted in the first clear-cut alignment of the different factions. The radicals realize the impossibility of the passage of any amendment restricting full court review, and their acknowledgment of this fact has removed the principal cause of the deadlock. A growing majority is said to be in favor, also, of an amendment providing suspension of the Commissioner's rate orders when they are being reviewed in court, and the current thing holds in each case to cover the amount in action. Altogether, the prospects for the enactment of conservative and efficient legislation at an early date are much brighter.

Uncle Sam's ships may be compelled to adopt the new plan in vogue in the Japanese navy, and cruise under canvas in times of peace. Extension of funds for the purchase of land, the raising of Congress to appropriate a sufficient amount to buy all that will be required during the year, and the proposed increase in the price of coal by reason of the strike, have resulted in orders being issued by the Navy Department of the greatest economy. No cruises that are not absolutely necessary will be taken this year by American warships.

Julius I. Lyons of New York descended on Secretary Bonaparte this week and endeavored to prove that the country's greatest need was a new national hymn. He contended that a "The Star Spangled Banner" was "unmusical" and that "America was English." His plan is to enlist the support of the administration and then offer a prize for a new song, but much to his surprise, Secretary Bonaparte failed to endorse. The Secretary told his visitor that he did not believe a national song could ever become popular unless connected with some significant event in the nation's history.

Weather predictions for any given day six months in advance, may be made possible through investigations now under way by the Smithsonian Institution. Scientists are completing their observations of the sun's radiation, and, when the causes of these variations have been reduced to a definite understanding, astronomers will be enabled to tell, months in advance, whether any given season will be dry or wet, warm or cold. Prof. C. G. Abbot, of the Smithsonian Institution, has just left for California, where he will continue his work in the observatory of the Carnegie Institute there, which has been placed at his disposal. He expects to complete his observations by October.

Modern science may discover that the reason why the barefoot American boy these days would far rather go fishing than do the "chores" is due entirely to the homecoming of this system by the "lazy bug." This bug is a Porto Rican product, but its day of power is past in that island since the natives have been converted to the use of shoes. Governor Vinthrop informed the House Committee on Insular Affairs this week that the bug has been found to be small parasite which works through the feet and up the body to find lodgment in the intestines. The "laid feeling" quickly follows. Government scientists do not feel alarmed over the possibility that the "lazy bug" will invade this country, but the barefoot American youth should shun the Porto Rican parasite as far more dangerous than the "chigger."

If the child labor law passes the Senate it is safe to predict that the cause providing that the measure apply to the Senate and the House will be stricken out. If carried into effect as it now stands, the law would sound the knell of the page who now scurries around the two chambers at the beck and call of Congressmen. The Senators contend that while the boys may not attend school regularly in the day time, they gain a broadening experience that is a liberal education in itself. Senators (Gorman of Maryland, and Mallory of Florida, were judges at one time, and many of their companions of those days became officers in the army and navy and successful men in other walks of life.

One of the largest checks received by the "conscience fund" for some time reached Secretary Shaw this week. It was for $120, and the draft was drawn on New York bank. On its face it bore the information that it was intended for the special fund to which it has been added, but the conscience-stricken person who drew it did not send his name nor divulge the reason for such heavy restitution.

MAYO.

It is Going to be Built.

Dundee Ohio county, Ky., April 14.—Editor of Breckenridge News, Cloverport, Ky.—I saw in your editorial column of April 11 that you are really anxious to know whether that Madisonville road will ever be built or not.

Now, Mr. Editor, if you will take my word for it, that Madisonville road is going to be built. If you don't believe it, come down to Dundee, Ohio county, Kentucky, "the Garden Spot of Ohio county," about June 1 and I will show you the real thing in the way of railroad construction.

That is the truth, Uncle John, no doubt about it. Your magazine section is good. I like it very much. The Breckenridge News always has been the best county paper I ever saw.

Breckenridge county is all right except one thing. It ought to have a stock law. You should vote a general stock law. Ohio county has one and it is the best law we have ever had. It is a whole lot easier to fence against your own stock than every one else's stock.

LAUGH.

(By Alla Wheeler Wilcox.)

Laugh, and the world laughs with you; Weep, and you weep alone! For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,

But has trouble enough of its own. Sing, and the hills will answer; Sigh, it is lost on the air—

The echoes bound to a joyful sound, But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you; Grieve, and they turn and go. They want full measure of all your pleasure,

But they do not need your woe. Be glad, and your friends are many; Be sad, and you lose them all. There are none to decline your nectar'd wine,

But alone you must drink life's gall. Feast, and your halls are crowded; Fast, and the world goes by. Succeed and give, and it helps you live, But no man can help you die. There is room in the halls of pleasure For a large and lordly train, But none by one we meet all alone Through the narrow passages of pain.

LONG USED TO EARTHQUAKES

Golden Gate Metropolis Has Been Shaken Often In the Past.

PRESENT WORST EVER KNOWN

Some of the Skyscrapers and Other Buildings Destroyed—Magnificent City Hall in Ruins—Fire Arrested by Dynamite—Earthquake of 1906 Described by Mark Twain.

THE recent disastrous earthquake extending over an area a part of the Pacific coast region and working such an extensive section of the city of San Francisco was not the first of these catastrophes known in the western metropolis, though by all odds the most damaging. For many years the municipal authorities refused to permit tall buildings in the city because of the fear of earthquakes, several of which had already been experienced. Finally the interdiction was removed, however, and a number of skyscrapers resulted.

Prior to 1868 there was hardly a building in excess of five stories and only a few of these high buildings. In the earthquake of 1868 the ground was cracked open several inches. In the upheaval of 1868 the tall buildings were given a fearful shaking and some of their occupants were made dizzy and sick. The structures were uninjured, and ever since that time there has not been so much question of the safety of high buildings of modern construction that is, buildings of structural iron frame and facings of pressed brick, terra cotta or stone.

It was M. H. K. Taylor, the proprietor and editor of the Chronicle, who was the pioneer in this respect. He met with opposition from the municipal authorities for his desire to build a ten-story house for his newspaper. It was believed to be a dangerous undertaking because of the earthquake fear. Mr. Taylor won out and thereby set an example of enterprise to other wealthy men who have since built more tall buildings. For instance, J. O. Mills, the New York banker, who owns a great deal of San Francisco property, has one of the tallest and finest structures in the city.

San Francisco, known throughout the country as the sugar king and the richest San Francisco, owns a building seventeen stories high, commonly known as the tall building, or three of the corner sites, where Third street intersects Market, is located the great skyscraper building, the tower of the cable, the Yerkes building, the tower of the Chronicle, and the Hotel Union, all occupied by the Examiner. The three great skyscrapers, however, having contributed largely to the building development of San Francisco in recent years. The city now has its share of tall buildings, one being eighteen stories in height. The tallest part of them are eight, ten and twelve stories, the eight stories being most numerous.

The tall and Examiner buildings were almost totally destroyed in the earthquake and many other skyscrapers were severely shaken, cracked and damaged.

One of the chief buildings which collapsed was the new postoffice. This was a substantial structure of granite, costing to exceed $500,000. While not striking from an architectural standpoint, the postoffice was impressive from its massiveness.

The post office building was badly damaged, and the operating room was a wreck. Power of every kind was destroyed, and there were no lights at all.

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask. Are your nerves regular? Is your blood pure? Is your system healthy? If you are pale, thin, nervous, and your blood is impure, you should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is a blood purifier and a tonic. It will cure you of all these troubles. It is a grand old family medicine. It is a blood purifier and a tonic. It will cure you of all these troubles. It is a grand old family medicine.

their gas of electric, setting the race hotel near the St. Francis was destroyed as far as the framework goes, but the inside plastering and decorations were greatly damaged.

The business section of the city from Market street to Mission street and from the bay back was almost completely wrecked.

The most conspicuous building in San Francisco, the city hall, is almost totally ruined. It cost from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000, took twenty-five years in construction and was surrounded by a dome 332 feet high. It was thought to be very solidly constructed, being built substantially of brick, with the walls covered by cement. The interior of the dome was decorated with expensive marbles taken from the Pacific coast mountains.

Another very fine building, which cost over $500,000, is the splendid hotel erected by Mrs. Herman Oelrichs on fashionable Nob hill. Mrs. Oelrichs, who is a daughter of the late Senator Fair, has shown fine taste in the architectural plans of Fairmont, the appropriate name of the new hotel. Seen from the bay this structure, with its massive outline and the behelded think of a Greek temple. White and graceful, it looms above the busy market place, the great wholesale district, the crowded business section and picturesque Chinatown, which, by the way, is fast disappearing owing to the encroachments of commerce and the dwindling of the Chinese population.

Other imposing edifices, many of which have been more or less severely injured, are the Hotel St. Francis, the Palace hotel, the Hall of Justice, the Mutual Bank building, the Pacific Mutual Life building and the Callaghan building. The greatest property damage resulted in the manufacturing district, and the greatest loss of life in the tenement house district.

The chief strick of the city is Market, running diagonally for many miles. The destruction of many of the department stores and other business blocks on Market and Mission streets was almost complete. Fire added to the horrors of the earthquake, and as the flames raged, the fire department was helpless. The flames ate their way along Market street, and other fires started in different parts of the city.

As the earthquake occurred but a little after 5 o'clock in the morning, practically the entire population was asleep. Men and women rushed wildly forth in their night robes and fled in panic through the streets. Many were injured by falling roofs and walls, and in the poorer districts the tenements collapsed like eggshells, crushing and suffocating their inmates before they had time to escape. In many cases fire finished the work of death, catching the victims as they were pinned alive under the debris.

The track of an railroad was depressed four feet or more for a distance of three miles. At one point in the city the earth cracked open for a distance of six feet, leaving a yawning chasm of fabulous depth.

The destruction of all telegraph wires, except one belonging to the Postal union, made it almost impossible for the stricken city to communicate with the outside world. The severe injury to the Western Union and Postal office of floor, also the Associated Press, greatly added to the destruction.

The practical destruction of six or eight blocks, coupled with the immense loss of life and damage to property throughout San Francisco and the entire coast region, makes the severe injury to the Western Union and Postal office of floor, also the Associated Press, greatly added to the destruction.

San Francisco has suffered from many slight seismic shocks, one of them occurring about a year ago. At that time the city was in a state of panic, and many people fled to the mountains. The most severe earthquake San Francisco has known prior to the present one was in 1906. Quite a little damage resulted, though nothing remotely comparable to this. It was the 1906 shakeup that was made famous by Mark Twain. The most surprising thing the great Mark saw at that time was the opening up of the ceiling of his room, the lips of the office work and to find a hole in the wall and a slipper slipping through and held in suspension like one lone tooth on the jaw of an old man.

SAN FRANCISCO HISTORY

Stricken City Long Permeated With an Air of Romance.

IN THE DAYS OF VIGILANTES

How the Metropolis of the West Was Purged of Disorder—Lynching of Casey—The Days of the Forty-killers—Town Depopulated by the Rush of Gold Seekers.

SAN FRANCISCO, the earthquake stricken city, has long been permeated with an air of romance and adventure. Nowhere may one turn without being reminded of the legends that have been woven around the forty-killers and their immediate followers. The names of the streets and of the business blocks, such as Kearney, Sutter, Montgomery, Du Pont, Flood, Crocker and Sharon, bring to the mind of the visitor long forgotten stories of riot or adventure and of fortunes whose vastness once excited his wonder or made him incredulous.

The site of the city was first visited by Europeans in 1789, and in 1775 Buell ordered a fort, presidio and mission founded on the bay. One year later, the year of the Declaration of Independence, the Spanish settlers began the work, and when Vancouver, British explorer, visited the place in 1792 the presidio represented the military authority, while the pueblo and military school for the civil and religious factors respectively. The mission was secularized in 1824 and a town lived on the bay.

In 1841 an American man-of-war, under command of Commodore John B. Montgomery, entered the harbor and hoisted the stars and stripes over the town. Mexico, which succeeded Spain as the owner of California, was then at war with the United States, and the act of Commodore Montgomery ended her dominion over San Francisco. Montgomery appointed Lieutenant Washington A. Bartlett to be the first alcalde, or mayor, under the new regime. Under Spanish and Mexican rule the town was a sleepy, unimportant place, but with the coming of Americans and the discovery of gold in 1848 there came an era of growth and luxury. This did not result in the gold rush of the discovery of gold practically depopulated San Francisco.

The town was smitten as by a plague, and one historian thus describes what happened: "Its houses were left unoccupied and unprotected, its former trade ceased, its lots fell to a small part of their value, its two weekly newspapers were suspended, and the town, deserted by the bulk of its inhabitants, was at one time without a single officer clothed with civil authority."

After the first rush to the gold diggings the town began to regain its lost grandeur. The new gold seekers came with an impetus to its growth. The town was incorporated in April, 1850, and the first common school district was organized to plunder the city treasury. The same year the state was admitted to the Union, and when the steamer Oregon sailed from the coast, it was a telegraphic communication in those days—business was entirely suspended and the entire population rushed to the shore to witness the launching. The town had about 10,000 inhabitants at that time, and when the people were informed that the signal flags of the Oregon indicated that California was a sovereign state of the United States of America "a universal shout arose from 10,000 voices on the wharfs, in the streets, upon the ships, households and the world of shipping in the bay."

In its early history the city suffered from several disastrous fires. Between December, 1818, and June, 1851, six conflagrations played havoc with the growing young town. Better buildings were planned and several fire companies were organized. These were steps in the right direction. It was so covered that the fires were started by criminals who profited by the confusion.

This fact and the inefficiency and corruption of the city government led a large number of citizens to organize the famous vigilance committee which ruled the place in 1851. Quite a number of crooks were lynched by the committee, others were driven out, like John Oakburn, the leading figure in the riot of 1851. The "Panic of '52" and the city went through a purification process that was of great benefit to it.

The aspect of San Francisco at this time was not inspiring to idling gold seekers. It was a struggling metropolis, a town of log cabins, frame houses and a mass of canvas and rubber huts. It was mainly a city of tents, rising in a crescent upon the shores of the bay. From Clark point it skirted the loop to Telegraph hill, along the Clay street slopes, tapering away to the California street ridge. The larger number passed to the southwest shores of the bay, beyond the Market street corner a narrow strip of from blustering winds was provided with good spring water and named the Happy Valley. Stockton street, stretching from Sacramento to Green streets, presented the nearest cluster of dwellings, and Powell street was the abode of churches, for of the six churches in existence in the middle of 1850 three graced its sides and two stood upon cross streets, within half a block. Mason street, above it, was really the western limit of the city, as Green street was the western limit of the city.

After the vigilance committee disbanded the criminal element became bolder, and in 1850 the crime and corruption in the city had become intolerable to those who wished to live a decent and orderly life. When Editor King of the Bulletin, who had denounced the thugs, was murdered by James P. Casey, a new vigilance organization was created, and in a few days Casey and another murderer named Cora were executed in front of the committee's headquarters. Many lawbreakers were later put to death, and the regime of the California "bad man" came to an end.

It has been asserted that San Francisco is the most cosmopolitan city in the world, and by cosmopolitan is meant a people of many races and of many nations. Not long ago the records indicated that 43 per cent of the people of the city were born in foreign countries, but in practically every land under the sun. According to the national census reports for 1900, San Francisco had a total population of 298,007. Of these 172,190 were native born and 125,817 were born outside of the United States. Fully half the grown persons of the community resided in California from alien lands, while a large percentage of the other half and of the general body of children were of foreign parentage.

San Francisco has long been famed as the "side-spring" city of the United States. As in the days of 1849, the gambler devotes himself to his vocation with little interference from the authorities. Prior to the earthquake two of the most prominent corners in the city were occupied by gambling dens. One of them, known as the Cafe Royal, has been a veritable gold mine for its proprietors.

The California supreme court has rendered a decision to the effect that the game of draw poker is not a game of chance, but involves judgment and other elements as well as chance or luck, and because of this decision these places are permitted to be maintained. They are frequented by a hard-boiled crowd of men, and many scandals are said to be associated with these places. A visitor's life is probably safe in these resorts, but his money is not. It is said that the son of the premier of British Columbia was fleeced of $5,000 in the Cafe Royal a few years ago. He lost $1,500 in cash, but stopped payment $7,000 in checks.

San Francisco has forty-seven square miles of territory, or about 30.5 miles within the municipal limits. It has six large parks and twenty-two small ones, and Golden Gate park occupies over 1,000 acres.

The Hon. David O. Robinson, County Treasurer of Frankfort, Ky., writes, "I was very much run down from over work, and suffered from indigestion and a severe nervous trouble. The medicines prescribed failed to help me, and could not take cod liver oil or emulsion, as the greasy mixture upset my stomach. One of our county officials told me about your delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, and what it had done for him. I decided to try it, and in a remarkably short time I was a well man. Vinol built me up, cured my stomach and nervous trouble and I have not been so well for years."

A member of the firm of Short & Haynes, our local druggists, says: "Vinol cures conditions like this because it positively contains in a high concentrated form all of the vitality-making and body-building properties of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cod fish livers, and without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work."

"We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in Cleveland and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging on, coughs, bronchitis or incipient consumption to try Vinol on our guarantee. We will return your money if it fails to give you relief."
